

Bellyrubs Organic

May, 2006

Greetings one and all. I apologize for not getting a newsletter out to you sooner but it has been hectic to say the least. To begin with we have expanded our distribution to include Korea and Hong Kong with our first shipments being made to both of these countries in just the past few months. I look forward to working with our distributors in both of these countries. We have also increased our expansion into many new stores throughout the United States and appreciate the opportunity to share Bellyrubs Organic products with an ever increasing customer base.

You will notice since December that we have added several new products including a complete line of freeze dried treats including beef, chicken, lamb and rice and our newest which is salmon and chicken. In addition to offering these products in a convenient take along jar size we also offer a larger premium buy resealable bag size which includes several ounces of treats. After exhibiting at a recent trade show in Atlantic City we also added the ability to offer bulk pricing of these products in the 25 pound category to meet the needs of our customers who need a larger size.

With the onset of spring and the increased temperatures across the country we have added another variety to our shampoo line which is a combination of aloe vera and tea tree. This particular formula also includes citronella which many believe helps to combat fleas and ticks.

We have added a line of liquid dietary supplements which offers several advantages such as a rapid absorption rate without the binders required in the making of products in pill form. Due to time and space constraints I will not get into the details of each item but please look at the product section of the website to learn more.

Many of you have asked for the ability to order using a secure online 24/7 web page on our site and that is now a reality. Please contact us for more details and to obtain your wholesale vendor passwords. With this new system in place we look forward to serving your needs at a time that is convenient for you our customer.

Thank you so much for your continued support,

Kim Ridgeway
